(e) As of now, all projects are being implemented within the original time frame. However a few World Bank assisted irrigation projects such as Maharashtra Composite Irrigation Project III, Periyar Vaigai Irrigation II Project, West Bengal Minor Irrigation Project and Gujarat Medium Irrigation II Project are slightly behind the schedule. The general reasons could be identified as, (1) Inordinate d?lays related to procurement, land acquisition and thus, fin commencement of the actual construction works (2) Enhancement of project scope during implementation-period, thus, making the project overambitious and more expensive most of the time, (3) Imposition of mlid-stream addi-tionalities by the World Bank with overstress on the Restttlement & Rehabilitation, environmental issues and costly inputs like lining of canals, drafaage etc., (4) Unforeseen natural calamities causing interruption, such as cyclone drought, flood etc.
